Dear Friends:

As has been the experience of many of our family members, friends, and business associates, a challenging health condition has recently entered my life. In an effort to control rumors both as to my condition and my ability and intention to continue to practice law at Fessenden Laumer & DeAngelo, PLLC as I have for the last 36 years, I offer this personal report of my medical status.

With God's blessing, I expect to be back full-time practicing law in 4 -6 weeks. I will be in Roswell receiving their expert care for a blood disorder. I am, of course, praying for a full recovery and I have a positive attitude like my many friends who have whipped serious illnesses. I plan to do whatever the doctors ask of me in order to win this battle.

So, why this letter? To reassure our numerous clients that with 13 staff and 4 other attorneys working every day, we don't expect to miss a beat at Fessenden Laumer & DeAngelo. It will be business as usual. For those who know me over the years, it will come as no surprise that I asked the Roswell doctor if I could continue working remotely at the hospital. With a smile on his face, he said, "Yes, I talked to Dr. LaMancuso and he already told me that you would want to continue to work. That's the plan."

In closing, God owes me nothing. I have wonderful family, work-family, and friends. I know that my loyal clients will not blink. This is just another part of life that I believe I can hit head-on. Please pray for my full and fast recovery.

This disease is not the death knell - it is 2022 and I am in the best shape I've ever been. My odds are great. See you in 6 weeks.

Very truly yours,
